“ Allen was more than just Allen, he was and always will be "Ned". Ned enjoyed the company of others and always sought to make a friend. It was pretty easy to love him once you realized the gentle loving spirit that God gifted him with. His passing leaves a void that will never be filled, but the blessing of his presence will last forever in the hearts and memories of those that knew him. At this time we can all learn from the book of Matthew and understand that the first eight verses of chapter 5 can bring us all comfort in knowing he is with the king of all creation and the light of the world.
