“ Please accept my sincere condolences. As you are aware, God's word tells us: "Our days ebb away...;And our years come to an end like a whisper. The span of our life is 70 years, Or 80 if one is especially strong...They quickly pass by and away we fly." (Psalms 90:9,10) This helps us to appreciate no matter how long we live, it is not long enough because man was not created with the intention of death. God is aware of the pain felt when death snatches away our loved one. God tells us: "He will swallow up death forever, And the Sovereign Lord will wipe away the tears from all faces." (Isaiah 25:8) This gives us hope of being reunited with our precious ones who are sleeping in death. (Mark 5:39-42) May pondering over this wonderful future blessing bring you a large measure of comfort.3
