“ Howard and his twin brother Tommy spent their entire lives in the New Castle County area. For years, the two men could be seen riding the highways on their bikes. For the last fifteen years, the two have lived in a small, but cozy apartment at Greenville at 141. Although their diabetic legs no longer allowed them to bike ride to destination, the two of them continued to maintain their network of contacts through public transportation. Life was simple, but good. Weekly trips to the Farmer's market, St. Anthony's and St. Mark's food pantries. Daily stops at the nearby Dunkin Donuts and Dollar Store.

Although twins, Howard was always the Big Brother to Tommy, protective, sometimes bossy, but always loving.

St. Mark's United Methodist Church will hold a memorial service for Howard at 10 AM on November 17th, the day of his burial (noon at Potter's Field behind the Delaware State Hospital).
