“ I will love this man until I take my last breath. My 1st love. The father of 2 wonderful sons. I'll never forget the look on his face when he seen his sons being born. Such pride he had. One memory always stands out. We went to Gatlinburg with our friend Johnny Holder. We went hiking on a nature trail. It was absolutely beautiful. But I was 7 months pregnant. Well we really didn't realize just how far we had been walking then realized we had gone pretty far and needed to turn around. To say the least, it's much harder on a very pregnant woman walking uphill. So Danny put me on his shoulders and carried me the couple miles back up the mountain. He was my world, the love of my life and unfortunately we were young and stubborn and didn't make it. But we became friends and never stopped loving each other. I hope that he has found peace. I pray for our sons, his sisters, his parents and friends. Danny had a big and not everyone knew the man that I fell so head over hills in love with. He was a beautiful kind hearted loving man. And I'll love him forever
