

James Giovanni Smith

April 10, 2020 - November 19, 2020

James Giovanni Smith, 7 months old, was born Saturday, April 11, 2020, to Danielle Smith and Christopher Kilgoe. James passed away peacefully on Thursday, November 19, 2020, of a progressive neurodegenerative disorder at Sinai Hospital of Baltimore in Maryland, surrounded by his loving parents.

James could not cry or move but had a strong, opinionated, yet peaceful spirit that taught those around him to overcome fear. Although his brief life was spent primarily being nurtured by extremely caring hospital staff, due to Covid19 restrictions, he will be warmly-remembered, especially by his many “girlfriends”. We knew that he loved the songs: “Can’t Stop the Feeling” by the Trolls and “Won’t He Do It” by Karen Hawthorne, because whenever he heard them, his heart rate increased and he smiled, with those precious dimples.

James leaves “a village” to mourn his great loss, which includes his loving parents; siblings, Montane’, Kameron, Olivia, Khristian and Zurielle; maternal grandparents, Kenneth Smith and Pamela Thompson; paternal grandparents; Brenda Hooper and the late Herbert Kilgoe, and a host of relatives. You will be sorely-missed--our Tiny Super Hero: you have received your cape, King James!!
