“ Too many memories to share. I only knew \u201cboo boo\u201d (as we called eachother) for 5 short years but in those 5 years we became very close. We worked together, spent family times together, laughed and cried together. Anytime I needed a shoulder or just someone to talk to he was at my house at the drop of a hat. He raised amazing children and cherished his amazing wife for who I am so grateful for them to have shared memories with as well. His soul was one that will never be matched, he will truly be missed by everyone he ever came in contact with. With much love, Ethan Sierra and Kennedy Brooks.

“ What can I say.... Flip was more than just a friend but an Annoying big brother who my husband HAD to name as our son's godfather, lol. I didn't argue with him because I knew in my heart Flip would love our child more than anyone else in this world. He took me in as his sister and was a awesome best friend to my husband. I will forever be grateful. He was pure joy and nothing but jokes and laughter. This hurts so bad because it's like we didn't get enough times with him. However, I know he wouldn't want me to question God; or wear a Eagle's jersey to his service. I will honor his wishes lol. But all jokes aside. I can not explain how sorry I am for your loss Angie & Children, my prayers is God will comfort and strengthen you all during the hardest times. Love you guys & Rest Well the original Flip Wilson
