“ This is a tribute to Joseph Organus, who I have known for many decades.

He was a friend and an excellent conversationalist. We have talked on many subjects and he always had something interesting to say about his many healing activities and experiences. Joe had acquired a bachelor degree at Wilmington University. Joe was a long time leader at the local Satsang Society of the Delaware Eckankar group.

A possible Memorial ceremony may be organized in the spring for him and I will miss him very much.

“ I met Joe in 1966 when I moved from Pennsylvania to Delaware. Being a transfer student from another state and entering 11th grade at Newark Senior High School as a new student was both very challenging and stressful for me. I met Joe in gym class at NHS and we became instant friends with him showing me around town and helping me to adjust to this new school. For the next fifty plus years, we had many interesting conversations and many wild adventures together and became brothers by different mothers. Joe was a very interesting person in life and accomplished many things from weightlifter, martial artist, college graduate, entrepreneur and philosopher. I will miss him. RIP my old friend. See you again on the other side. Joe Steenson, Grantville, Pa.

“ On June 12, 1980 I met Joe Organus at a meeting about Eckankar. Over the years I enjoyed seeing Joe at Eckankar and his family events. He was kind, spiritual, dedicated to God, and I have missed seeing him in the past years.
