“ Patrick was my best friend growing up . He was my uncle, but I love him like my brother, and I always cherish my memories of all the times we had together. I can't say one bad thing about him . He taught me to make pancakes when I was 7 years old . He got me into pro wrestling in the 80s and we had so much fun with that . We got into trouble as brothers and friends and were very close. I remember playing Batman and robin with him and stopping the joker and saving the day every time we played. We had our own club and you had to be me or him to get in ( the 100 KHI club ) . I never forget getting punished for going behind the chicken house and breaking pop pop's light bulbs , riding that Honda mini bike with him. He and I completely fell for guns and roses in the late 80s and we tried hard to look just like them . There are so many things I can say , so many memories that thank him so much for. I miss my friend, my brother. I love him to this day and I'm heartbroken that I never got to say goodbye. I am truly blessed to have been his best friend. Rest In Peace brother, I truly miss you.
