“ My deepest condolences for the loss of your dear loved one. While nothing will completely take away your grief, by meditating on Gods promises found in the Bible, you can find real hope and the strength to keep going. My family and I have found the scripture at Isaiah 25:8 to be especially comforting. Here it promises that God "will swallow up death forever and the Sovereign Lord Jehovah will wipe away the tears from all faces."

“ To the family of William Jones, even though I only knew William for a brief time I am deeply saddened to hear of his passing. My heart and prayers extend to you all. I had the privilege of being a counselor to William and I wanted you all to know that he expressed a deep faith in God and Jesus Christ his Savior. He mentioned the warmth and love of his family often and looked to you all for strength and hope. I pray your hearts may be filled with peace and the knowledge of William's sincere faith in Jesus and hope for his family's well being. Your loss is profound but I pray your hope and faith will be strong through it all knowing he is with his savior. Sincerely, Psalm 23 - Kim Birowski

“ Dear Billy and Nealette: I'm so sorry to learn about the recent loss of your precious son and my nephew. I will remember him fondly and I know you must miss him already. He left this world way too soon. But try not to ask why and try not to remember how. There are no answers to that. Try to focus on the good memories. Remember how much he helped you and Nealette. Remember his childhood and what a sweet kid he was. He was greatly loved and appreciated. Remembering the good things will bring comfort to you both. And God will comfort you too. Lean on Him with all your might. He will see you through. God bless and keep you both. Love, your sister and brother in law, Bunny and Howard
